BIOGRAPHY

Looks That Kill, is accurate musically as much as theatrically, with the great ability to re-create the sounds and mannerisms of the Bad Boys of Rock n Roll, by providing a powerful, authentic sounding, fully costumed stage show that gets as close as possible to seeing the real Mötley Crüe.

Founded by the two brothers of the band, Dan (bassist) and Brad (guitarist) Schembri, they are joined by Axel Winter (vocalist) and Tommy Rocka (drummer). Right from the get-go, they have created a family type bond within Looks That Kill which can be seen throughout their show.

Having played at multiple venues across Melbourne and Regional Victoria, Looks That Kill has supported both local and international bands as well as hosting their own shows.

Each member of Looks That Kill has put in lots of hard work and dedication for many years playing in Melbourne's live music scene, and now they have formed together, one of the finest Tribute shows Melbourne has witnessed, which will keep you entertained from the moment they step on stage.
